

CLAIM

What we claim as our invention is a web-based program which enables physicians and case managers to monitor the self-report of medication compliance, symptom response, and side effects by patients without a visit to the office.